Lyle, the first EPA sponsored conference began today and the second is tomorrow. I've attached the agendas for both. As you can see, the focus is on use of Integrated Pest Management techniques, which includes the judicious use of pesticides. There have been inquiries from the EPA folks about the CDC attempts to provide screens to the homes of pregnant women as additional protection for them. Could you and I have a call to discuss? I appreciate our work together on these Zika related issues.
